In spite of many difficulties and some disappointments, we have created a unique human institution, which is now approaching full universality of membership, and which has proved capable of change as well as of expansion. Today, it is more relevant than it has ever been to the challenges and opportunities of the world. - But this occasion also provides us with the opportunity of looking forward. We know that mankind faces many grave and complex problems. The issues of peace and war, of plenty and of poverty, of justice and. injustice, still confront us and must be resolved. - The potentiality of the United Nations is immense. What is required is a renewal of our common faith and determination that the advances of the past thirty years will be maintained and that we will, together, meet the challenges of our times. In this vital work, I ask for your support, encouragement, and assistance.

Your own example of dynamic activism and far-seeing diplomacy has always inspired us in our own attempts to serve the United Nations in whatever small way we can. - At this time I appeal to you on behalf of our membership--100 or so Secretariat staff and members of delegations—and also on behalf of the many hundreds more who have been participating in our meditations and activities. Since the Group's founding in 1970, the name of the United Nations Meditation Group has become associated with programmes of a very positive nature where ambassadors, Secretariat officials and staff, and other world-minded individuals can share and reinforce their inspirational vision of the United Nations. - Now we appeal to you to allow us to continue our efforts to serve the United Nations family. All we ask is to be able to continue using the name we have built up gradually over the last eight years and to continue meeting in rooms here. Right now the Recreation Council is asking all clubs to use the same phrase in their names; however, the Legal Department has approved our using an alternative clause that appears on the bottom of this letterhead, clearly identifying our Group as an association and not implying official standing. We feel each situation should be considered individually, and we hope you will be able to help us. Again, as we do not ask for financial or other support from the Recreation Council, perhaps there is a way for us to continue our dedicated service which would not involve the Council. - As you see from this "Devoted _Report to the Secretary-General," many ambassadors, other members of the diplomatic community and U.N. officials and staff have appreciated and , joined in our programmes to create an atmosphere reflective of the highest purposes of the world organisation. We do hope to be able to continue our work here, with your help and guidance. The suggested name of "Staff Recreation Council-Meditation Group" in its literal meaning is hardly appropriate to the functions of the Meditation Group. Staff Recreation Council. The Meditation Group and I shall be eternally grateful to you if you could help us in this predicament. - I feel that this arrangement would also be most satisfactory to the ambassadors of the United States, Tanzania, Panama, Cyprus, Liberia, Italy and the Dominican Republic who were so kind as to write letters of deep appreciation and support for us in our unending difficulties (copies of these letters were forwarded to Mr. Mayrhofer) “. - May I also at this time make another humble request. I promised you last year while presenting you with a copy of my book on U Thant that I would also write a book on you. I recently completed work on this book and I expect it will soon be back from the publisher. Would it be possible at some time in April for me to briefly meet with you and present you with my devoted offering? - Again, I am extremely grateful to your assistant Mr. Mayrhofer, for supplying me "with much needed information as well as his own personal feelings toward you.

The United Nations has always sought to protect these as its own and to avoid any unfavourable confusion 4. Of course, exceptions to this policy can and had been made . Within the Secretariat, the UN Women's Guild and the UN Blood Drive are two examples. Outside activities may also be granted such use. For example, UN We Believe has been permitted the use of an abbreviated form of the name and a modified form of the emblem. This permission is granted only if the requesting group clearly supports the principles and goals of the United Nations . 5. The Meditation Group has had a long-term affiliation with the Organization and many UN staff members and delegates of the Permanent Missions participate in its activities. As such, there may be some basis for granting the Group use of the term "United Nations" in its title . However, it must also be remembered that within the United Nations staff Recreation Council there are several other religious or philosophical groups composed of staff members and delegates. The Transcendental Meditation group, the Mystics Round Table and the Pacem in Terris group are but three. In permitting the Meditation Group to use the United Nations' name, care should be taken not to give the impression that it alone or predominantly represents staff and delegates in this type of activity. Therefore, if the Meditation Group, as an unaffiliated organization, is to be granted its request, care should be taken to avoid any misconception as to the scope of its representation. We suggest that a title such as "Sri Chinmoy Meditation Group in the United Nations Community" should satisfy that Group's request as well as protect the status of other groups such as those mentioned. Of course, the permission for the use of even this title may carry conditions and be made subject to revocation for cause. 6. A final determination in the request of the Meditation Group for use of facilities and the name or emblem of the United Nations should be made on the basis of the above considerations. We, therefore, recommend that the Secretary-General's decision with regard to the request of the Group be made on the basis of the general policy of the Organization together with due consideration for the interests of the Meditation Group as well as other staff groups already established within the United Nations community.

I find this unadvisable in that it does not reflect the real nature of the Group and it tends to discourage participation of delegations through the terms 'staff Recreation'." We are extremely sorry that the Executive Committee chose to deliberately ignore this and similar entreaties by several other noted ambassadors. - Financial report Since the Meditation Group has always relied on voluntary contributions from within its membership to defray costs of programmes and has never sought funding of any kind from the Recreation Council, we feel that the finances of the Group do not need the approval of any authority from the Executive Committee of the Council ... - Review of activities and publications It is simply impossible for us to accept any rule that could lead to the role of Steering Committee or Censorship Board for the Executive Committee of the Council. As staff members we have a right to pursue our common interest--meditation--and to seek to inspire others in a more meaningful and thoughtful commitment to the U.N. Not only does the Executive Committee criticise our activities, but they also have deliberately attacked our teacher, Sri Chinmoy.. The Executive Committee's repeatedly questioning attitude toward the high-minded teacher of our Group is an all too-ready example of their misuse of authority and one which we find totally incredible and painfully shocking. Our late Secretary-General U Thant was kind enough to have Sri Chinmoy as his dear friend and he once remarked to him: "Whoever speaks to me about you is all appreciation and admiration, and I personally feel that you have been doing a most significant task for the United Nations." - In all sincerity we feel compelled to state our hesitancy to have any further dealings with the Executive Committee of the Staff Recreation Council. Our relationship with this Committee has been poisoned by what we see as inordinate actions and completely illogical allegations directed at the Meditation Group. ... But the height of affrontery was reached when, in replying to ambassadors who had written in our support, the Executive Committee questioned the very motives of the Meditation Group and vaguely alluded to some kind of financial

"When he was advised that your letter gave the advice of the Office of 'the Secretary-General in this regard, he consented to read the relevant parts of your letter. However, we were shocked and unbelieving when he announced that your decisions were not binding on him. When we expressed our disbelief, he flatly stated . . . that he was under instructions not to grant rooms. to the Meditation Group. He then consulted with his superior . . ., who agreed with his actions. The motive for denying rooms to our Group is extremely curious if not blatantly obvious when it is noted that . . . is head of both Conference Services and the UN Staff Recreation Council. We suggested that the whole matter be deferred until your return but requested that a room be made available on a one-time-only basis so that this programme of special meaning to the UN community could take place.

May I take this opportunity to wish you a most enjoyable luncheon.” - From invitation:” This fall, the Meditation Group is pleased to host, a luncheon and concert honouring women in the international community who are present in New York during the 34th General Assembly. This is our third annual event, and we hope this year's programme will again be successful in providing an opportunity for professional women and the wives of delegation members to meet and enjoy an informal atmosphere, a buffet luncheon and an esraj concert. As the "First Lady" of the United Nations, you are most cordially invited to attend, and we would be deeply grateful if you would offer some brief introductory remarks to greet the ladies who will be present. The programme will also include readings from famous women in the United Nations' history and a slide presentation.
